Homeworkers Worldwide (HWW) and Cividep India have been researching best practice in relation to homeworking from practitioners to brands, MSIs, trade unions and NGOs to produce a practical Toolkit, Finding Hidden Homeworkers in Apparel and Footwear Supply Chains.

With mandatory human rights due diligence on the horizon, it is important that brands and suppliers are prepared to meet their responsibilities.

Our Toolkit will make it easier for brands to work with their suppliers to improve transparency within homeworker supply chains, and improve homeworkers' working conditions.

To celebrate the launch of this significant new resource we are holding an online expert panel discussion on Tuesday 5th October

Introduction - Garima Dhiman from Traidcraft India

Toolkit overview - Peter Williams, HWW & Pradeepan Ravi, Cividep

Responses to the Toolkit:

Brand - Emma Harding, Ethics Specialist, Ted Baker

Supplier - TBC

Civil Society - Ines Kaempfer, CEO, The Centre for Child Rights & Business

Q&A / Discussion / Closing Remarks - Lucy Brill, HWW

This toolkit is an initiative of Hidden Homeworkers, a four year programme led by Traidcraft Exchange, HomeNet South Asia and Homeworkers Worldwide, co-funded by the European Union.
